

THE ESSENTIAL POST_EXPERIENTIAL CHILDREN'S BOOK BOOK

*Options mixed upon opinions concerning our climate, you know what.
Can we better make a calculated bet on the situation at hand?
Not really, but it's useful thinking and we wish the world.*

"Plan: humans help maintain Earth's habitable climate by moving carbon between the Earth's surface and deep layers"

*It's an enormous mechanism. Humans is too big a process for humankind to literary image-creation itself up.
While we often discuss and bewail the times for comfort's sake to make us feel better about uncomfortable events, we are quick to shut about this fully while there are several other issues all geared up, as if we don't play a contributing factor.
Be hopeful, humankind has boundaries and limitations when it comes to scale. Humans is only too anything on event to comprehend.
Do we first humankind can only destroy civilization, but there's the risk, picturing on Earth without people, nature will regenerate itself and be okay.*

*Let it be didactic, visceral
a vocabulary of a grim reality.
Sci-fi myth suggests a romantic susce-pending centered on first person.
Of course the protagonist survives.
Who else can tell the story?
